

have the support of Hill and August Belmont.

A proclamation of 20,000 words, setting forth McEllian's record, was sent out broadcast over the country from Tammany headquarters tonight. By the middle of this week, a dozen more Tammany leaders will be in St. Louis. Scores more will have been sent through the West and South to button-hole delegates, and several trainloads will leave New York several days before the convention opens. It is given out that Murphy has been in close communication with Democratic leaders in the South and West ever since New York instructed for Parker. He has told these men that New York City is necessary to Democratic success; that it is here the great Democratic victories are won; that the city furnishes financial and ballot "news" of war, and should be recognized as against David B. Hill, who only represents the Republican districts of the State.

It is given out by Tammany Hall that Murphy has been given assurance that the delegates from the West and South will support Parker, and have positive assurance of the support of Bryan, Hearst, Hopkins of Illinois, and Gorman.

Tammany men make no secret of the plan to be followed at St. Louis. They declare that the delegates are not morally bound to support Parker after the second ballot, ex-Senator Towne is to arise and explain to the convention that New York City is opposed to Parker, and tell why. Then, when Hill rises to explain, Tammany will bow him down. Cockran will then jump into the arena with the effort of his life, followed by Bryan, who will give a remarkable oration. Bryan will goad Hill with the labor plank, and this is expected to drive him from the stage. Then, Senator Grady will then take the floor and formally present McEllian to the convention and demand a poll of delegates. The nomination will be seconded by Hogg of Texas. By this plan, Tammany hopes to unite all Bryan, Hearst, Gorman, Wall and instructed delegates upon the New York Mayor.

THREE BOOM CIRCULARS.

OLNEY, MILLS AND CARMACK. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) NEW YORK, June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A pre-convention flood of Democratic boom literature struck today, every delegate to the St. Louis convention received contributions from managers of three booms. Strongly worded circulars advocating the nomination of Richard Olney and of Gen. Nelson A. Miles for President and Senator Edward W. Carmack of Tennessee for Vice-President, were included in the list.

The only circular was issued by the Democratic Club of Massachusetts and contained a picture and statistics of the Bay State candidate and extracts from his speeches and official utterances. An excellent portrait of Olney adorns the first page of the circular.

The Miles boom is wonched for by Bradford, in a circular, declares that "forty years of American history—and such history—look down upon us through Gen. Miles." His fighting record and his recent speeches for peace are put forth as evidence of his fitness for the nomination.

National Committee Chairman J. M. Head of Tennessee, fathers the boom circular for Senator Carmack.

NEW YORK NEWS FLOPS.

TAMMANY HALL FOR "MAC." (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) NEW YORK, June 26.—The New York Daily News, which has recently changed hands and has come out as a straight Democratic paper and is recognized as the organ of Tammany Hall, prints a three-page article advocating George B. McEllian, the present Mayor, as nominee of the Democratic party for the Presidency.

On account of the paper's policy, knowledge of the publication has created much speculation in local politics, where it is construed as indicating the beginning of a strong campaign to nominate McEllian. The News claims McEllian to be "the one man whose election would mean party success."

McEllian's record on most public questions is set forth, repeating speeches delivered while he was in Congress.

SEE CROKER FOR GROVER.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) LONDON, June 26.—Ex-Mayor Van Wyck of New York, and John F. Carroll, who reached London tonight, will go to Wantage to see Richard Croker next week. It is understood the object of the visit is to urge Croker to use his influence on behalf of Grover Cleveland for the Presidency.

Mr. Van Wyck said to the Associated Press: "I am practically out of politics now, except as a loyal servant of the party, but I put what I think is for the country before the party. It is no secret that I am a Cleveland man. I am going to see Mr. Croker. There is no new political deal on, but it is well to talk over things. After visiting Mr. Croker, I shall go for a few weeks to the continent, returning to the United States," to participate in the campaign.

For Congressmen, First District, Binger Hermann (Rep.) received 63,144 majority over R. M. Veatch (Dem.) Second District, J. M. Williamson (Rep.) 44,353 over J. E. Simmons (Dem.).

For State Supreme Judge, Frank T. Moore (Rep.) received 54,117 majority over Thomas O'Day (Dem.).

Both the laws initiated by petition of the people carried. The direct primary law, which was practically unopposed, won by a majority of 49,531.

On the local option liquor law, a bitter fight was waged, and won by the small margin of 2118.

Of the total vote cast, 35,005 tickets were marked for State Supreme Judge.

PROMISE OF ENTHUSIASM.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) INDIANAPOLIS, June 26.—The National Prohibition convention will meet in Tomlinson Hall, Indianapolis, on Tuesday. State Chairman Newlin, who has had charge of the arrangements, says it will be the most enthusiastic gathering the party has ever had.

In the evening the intercollegiate oratorical contest will take place with the participation of the National committee will meet at the Claypool Hotel at 8 o'clock. Committees will meet at the hotel Wednesday at 9 o'clock, and the first session of the convention proper will open at 10 o'clock, with National Chairman O. W. Stewart of Chicago presiding.

The temporary and permanent chairmen will be selected Tuesday evening. The nominations for President and Vice-President will be made Thursday afternoon. It is still an open question whether Gen. Nelson A. Miles will accept the nomination for the Presidency. He has left for an unknown resort without leaving any definite statement behind. Other names mentioned for the Presidential nomination are: Hopkins, Hornetville, N. Y.; Dr. Sillas C. Wallow, Harrisburg, Pa.; A. G. Wolfenberger, Lincoln, Neb.; Dr. E. L. Easton, Allegheny, Pa.; I. H. Ames, Portland, Or.; H. B. Metcalf, Pawtucket, R. I.; James A. Tate, Harriman, Tenn.

There is a faction of powerful temperance advocates who believe Gen. Miles should be nominated by the convention, even if he is not heard from before the meeting. Others favor the postponement of the convention until that of the Democrats, so that the platform and candidates named in St. Louis can be inspected before the Prohibitionists get to work. In accordance with these there will probably be a wealth of creative talent in the removal of the national convention from Kansas City to Indianapolis, which seems to express their disappointment on the convention floor. Dissatisfaction of any or all of these factions is into opposition to National Chairman Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago, who leads the contingent among the Prohibitionists who believe that they are a political party, not a temperance organization only, and therefore should act independently of all other political organizations.

FUNDAMENTAL THING IN LIFE.

IT IS MAN'S CHOICE OF RELIGION, SAYS PRESIDENT HADLEY.

Baccalaureate Address to the Students of Yale—Mammion Struggles Today With the Almighty for Mastery of the Human Soul—Evils Traced to Selfishness.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) June 26.—Yale's commencement week was formally opened today, when President A. T. Hadley, delivered the baccalaureate address in Woolsey Hall. After reviewing the tendencies of the times, Prof. Hadley said that faith, inspiration for the better things and enthusiastic devotion makes a nation really great. He continued that wealth and dominion follow as a result of faith and enthusiasm, they are good. But if wealth and dominion are sought for their own sake, and are not used as a source of national strength, they are of no consequence or value. It is an unfortunate fact that very few nations have achieved wealth or dominion without suffering loss of faith and enthusiasm and remaining with the empty husk of greatness at the very moment when they deemed themselves most powerful.

"There are two philosophies of life which are offered to us in place of the religion of our fathers, which lay stress on the natural impulses, as superior in authority to the dictates of a conventional morality; the one looks to enlightened selfishness, as the means by which mankind is to be delivered from unneeded restraints or traditions. You believe that each of these philosophies is erroneous. The one means a reversion towards savagery; the other a degeneration towards social weakness.

"There is a school of writers, like Zola or D'Audenois, which lay great stress on what it calls the primal instincts of mankind. These writers think that man remains at the bottom, animal, moved by animal impulses and passion; that to feel these passions strongly is a sign of strength, and to have them under complete control is an indication of weakness.

"These animal passions have their place in life. They may serve as impulses to civilization. But this fact does not mean that the necessity of these things should be emphasized, that these strong forces residing within the man which shall make him the master of these impulses and not their slave. It is of no purpose to dignify these passions by the name of primal instinct.

"The chief danger comes from the other quarters—from trusting to the work of reason in places where we are imperfectly prepared for its operations. After saying that to make human selfishness the fundamental standard of right is as disastrous as the attempt to make our unchecked animal instincts the standard of right conduct, he continued:

"Almost every evil—political, social or commercial—which constitutes a serious menace to the permanent prosperity of our country, can be traced directly to our tolerant acceptance of selfishness as a basis of morality. Do not be blind to this truth, that we have no higher motive than your own personal interest, it means that your soul is for sale if the price is sufficient. It is for you to show in your lives that the honor of a gentleman is not for sale, the faith of a Christian something more than an empty form of speech.

"Gentlemen of the graduating class, the really fundamental thing in a man's life is his choice of a religion. Two religions are today struggling for mastery. There is the religion of Mammon, whose dominant purpose is selfishness, and whose creed is in indifference to moral considerations, except as they may be instrumental to the attainment of individual advancement. There is the religion of God, whose purpose is the service of others, and whose loyalty to something larger than ourselves."

He closed with a plea that men lead Christian lives.

"SOCIETY OF WEALTHY."

SERMON AT AMHERST.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) AMHERST (Mass.) June 26.—At the commencement exercises at Amherst College today, the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by President George H. Rust, in part:

"The fashionable society of our cities is a society of the wealthy. The rich vie with each other in the expenditure of food, drink, clothes and decorations. Their moral standards are low. Divorce does not read a rich man or woman of fashionable society. There are degenerates of the cities. But not all the wealthy rush into the abyss of vulgar and senseless dissipation. There are many who use wealth to secure higher ideals. How otherwise could there be culture, science, art, music, philanthropy, colleges, schools and churches?"

ST. PETERSBURG NEWS.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) ST. PETERSBURG, June 26.—Up to tonight the Japanese report of the late loss of three Russian ships at Port Arthur has not been published here. Although the authorities have allowed to be printed a statement that the squadron has made a sortie and also the news of the loss of the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers. Some of the papers have even commented with satisfaction on the prospect of the fight in the open sea, where the merits of the two fleets would be tested.

An official examination of the suppression of the Japanese report is that the Admiralty is unwilling to unnecessarily bring the club by the publication of such statements, entirely on the authority of the enemy, and in the absence of definite advice from the Japanese, that the Russian losses and magnified those of the Russians, as a view of affecting the new loan which it is understood Japan is negotiating.

On the other hand, according to a foreign naval attaché, the Admiralty today admitted that Rear-Admiral Witteff (the naval commander at Port Arthur) lost one battleship and two cruisers, but in the absence of details there was an inclination to believe that the ships struck mines, the Admiralty not believing, in the face of the lessons taught by the injuries to the Russian and to the Czechovitch, that Admiral Witteff would have remained in the outer roads at night, thus inviting the dash by the Japanese destroyers.

In high court and army and naval circles, where the report of the Port Arthur affair has been freely circulated, there is much speculation tonight with considerable reserve. The officials do not attempt to disguise the seriousness and the far-reaching consequences of the Japanese victory, but they are not inclined to exaggerate it.

TO DEATH IN DARK TUNNEL.

The Awful Ride of Engineer
Charles W. Sell.

Hit by Locomotive While on Track Velocipede.

Singular Fatality—Why Did
He Not Hear?

While riding on a track velocipede through the Chatsworth Park tunnel, Charles W. Sell, assistant engineer of construction for the Southern Pacific Company, was run down and killed by a light engine at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Rushing along with his motor at full speed in the clutter and din of his own machine, the steel monster was upon him before he realized his danger. The horror of the situation can hardly be expressed as the glare of the engine's headlight from behind him suddenly burst upon his vision. With a hurried glance over his shoulder he attempted to rise and jump for his life, and the next instant was dashed to his death against the side of the tunnel. Engineer Charles McComas could only reverse his lever and await the expected derailment of his locomotive in the darkness of the narrow tunnel. But the velocipede was butted far ahead and the engine held to the steel. The body of the young man was tenderly placed in a cab and taken back to Chatsworth. Except for a deep gash on the back of the head, there was hardly a bruise on him. Death must have been instantaneous. The accident occurred about 2000 feet from the eastern entrance of the tunnel. Sell has been living on the other side of the tunnel over a year, and has had much to do with its construction. He had gone through to Chatsworth and was on his way back when overtaken. Unopened letters stamped June 26 were found in his pocket, and it is thought that the mail had been the object of his night journey. Where the blame lies is hard to determine, as both the track machine and the engine were running at an unusual hour of the night, and were going in the same direction. The inquest will be held this morning at Breese Brothers in this city, where the body was taken. Sell was the only son of prominent people in Denver, Colo., and is said to have been engaged to a charming young lady of that city. His father, George Sell, is president of the George Sell Baking Company, and a telegram was at once sent to him for instructions. The remains will be shipped to Denver this evening. A graduate of Stanford University of the class of 1902, and a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, and prominent in Masonic orders of Denver, the death of Charles W. Sell will come as a blow to a host of warm friends. He was but 24 years of age, and had already gained a responsible position with the Southern Pacific. From an intimate friend who happens to be staying at one of the hotels in the city, it was learned that young Sell had just received a letter from his father, asking him to return to Denver and take charge of the George Sell Baking Company, his father wishing to retire from business. While at Chatsworth he was working under Engineer L. H. Long, who greatly admired him, and trusted him implicitly. The county of London includes twenty-nine boroughs or separate towns of from 51,000 to 335,000 inhabitants.

PRETTY SOUBRETTE'S SUDDEN MARRIAGE.

THE romantic month of June has seen many weddings in Los Angeles, but none with more genuine heart-interest or impetuous haste than that which characterized the sudden union of Miss Juliette Chandler and Rupert E. Drum yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Drum is the pretty soubrette of the Ulrich Stock Company, playing at prised when Drum walked up to the door of her dressing-room at the Grand Operahouse Saturday afternoon. "Let's get married," said Drum, after a few conversational preliminaries. "Agreed," quietly responded his wife-to-be. Yesterday morning they selected as the time for the tying of the knot, and as Rev. William Chandler was in town, the occasion seemed especially propitious. Mr. and Mrs. Drum will continue their stage work. Mrs. Drum finishing her engagement here with the Ulrich company, according to present plans. If an opening can be found for her husband, he will also stay with the local organization—otherwise he will return to San Francisco. As soon as possible they will enter the same company, and will be permanently together. The news of their marriage came as a great surprise to their associates, who were first informed of any love affair when the former Miss Chandler introduced her husband on the stage before yesterday afternoon's matinee.

THEY KISSED BRIDEGROOM.

Orthodox Hebrews' Ancient Wedding Ceremony.

Unique Usages of Old Time
Happily Observed.

The Nuptial Rejoicing Ended
With a Dance.

An orthodox Hebrew wedding was that of Joseph Maldenberg and Miss Dora Dembowsky last evening at the Synagogue Beth Israel, and of all the weddings of the present season there has probably not been one so picturesque and novel.

The pretty auditorium of Beth Israel was filled with friends of the bridal party long before the service began. From the gallery to the choir loft, above the altar, there were strung festoons of white, wound with smilax, making a canopy of nuptial greenery over the congregation as they sat in semi-darkness. The sun had set, and the seven candlesticks that flared and flickered on either side of the altar were all that diffused light through the room.

Be it remembered that Beth Israel is a strictly orthodox congregation, and adheres to the old Hebrew usages. Last night the men and women stood in their places in the synagogue with their hats on their heads, honoring their place of worship by remaining covered while in its presence.

As the company awaited the wedding party, several men took turns in chanting prayers as they stood before the altar and swayed their bodies backward and forward rhythmically to the monotone of their prayers. At a given signal the electric lights blazed out and a choir of men and boys, headed by Cantor L. N. Label, all gowned in black, wearing black beretias and white tallies or scarfs, with barred and braided ends, thrown over their shoulders, marched out of the side room and took their places within the altar railing.

At the bride party entered the synagogue the choir began its chanting. First came the procession of the bridesmaids and groomsmen; Miss Sarah Hammerman and L. Abramson, Miss Anna Gilbert and Charles Isenstein, Miss Rebecca Cohn and H. Levy, Miss Sadie Goldberg and Al Horwitz. Then the bridegroom and his best man, Lewis Jacobs, were followed down the aisle by the groom's father, Solomon Maldenberg, and the uncle of the bride, Max Dembowsky. Then followed other relatives of the bridegroom's family.

THE PROCESSION. Four Vaingy little flower girls in white, Anna and Rebecca Dembowsky, sisters of the bride, and Bertha and Della Dembowsky, cousins of the bride, preceded her down the aisle and scattered rose petals and marguerites. The bride, gowned in white silk, made demi-train, and wearing the long veil caught up with orange blossoms, was followed by her father, her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Dembowsky, and other relatives. A Pinkenstein was head usher.

In the center of the platform before the altar there was raised on four standards a canopy of white silk, bordered with blue and white, and each of these standards was supported by one of the bridegroom's attendants and one of the little flower girls. Under this canopy the rabbi, Rev. D. Arndt, the cantor, and the bride couple took their places. With intermingled song and singing and chanting of the cantor and the men and boys of the choir were the prayers of the rabbi, and after a brief address in English, setting forth the meaning of the marriage vows and the sacredness with which they must be held, Rabbi Arndt proceeded with the service and ceremonials, using the Hebrew language.

At certain points the rabbi received from the cantor a goblet of wine; from this the bridegroom drank, and then it was given to the bride to partake of it. Later in the ceremony the bride received the goblet and drank, and then it was passed to the bridegroom. Finally the ring was placed on the bride's finger, and after the benediction was pronounced by the rabbi the bridegroom with a vigorous kick broke into many pieces the wine goblet, and the congregation broke its silence by the clapping of hands.

The bridal party passed down from the platform and the bride and bridegroom were kissed vigorously. The men seated the bridegroom with resounding applause on his cheeks, and they were returned with fervor. The women devoted their osculatory efforts to the bride.

Then Mr. and Mrs. Maldenberg took their places at either side of the main entrance to the synagogue and received the congratulations of the congregation as it passed out. THE RECEPTION. Carriages at once took the company to Elks' Hall, where a joyous reception was held, and nuptial festivities lasted until well into the night. On the stage were set long tables, and more than two hundred guests partook of a bounteous supper. This was followed by dancing and music. Mr. and Mrs. Maldenberg will make their home at Hotel Roosevelt. They are going to Catalina Island for a visit of two weeks.

FORTY TELEGRAMS. MISS KORNBLUM'S WEDDING. One of the prettiest of Sunday weddings was celebrated yesterday at 3 o'clock p.m., when Miss Ada E. Kornblum and Gus N. Floersheim were united at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Kornblum, No. 818 East Washington street. Rev. Dr. Edelman performing the ceremony.

The house was prettily decorated throughout in green and white, the couple standing under a bower of ferns and white sweet peas. Miss Sarah Goldberg was maid of honor, and A. Kornblum, a brother of the bride, was the best man. Miss Goldberg wore a white silk batiste frock and carried a white sweet pea. The bridesmaids wore white batiste gowns. The bride wore a handsome gown of mousseline crepe over tulle, with bodice and skirt elaborately trimmed with lace.

The groomsmen were A. Mendelshon and James Cohn, and little Isadore Kornblum assisted as ring bearer. "The Ladies' Venetian Orchestra" furnished the music. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents from 5 until 8 o'clock, when the company adjourned to Central Hall, where an elaborate banquet was enjoyed. Nearly two hundred guests were seated at the festal board, over which George Black presided as toast-master. The young people were toasted and praised by many of the guests, and finally the entire assemblage drank, standing, to their future health and happiness. Over forty telegrams were received from all parts of the United States and two from Europe, congratulating the young people upon the step they had just taken. The green and white color scheme which prevailed at the house was carried out in the hall. The table at which were seated the bride and groom was decorated with sprays of fern and bouquets of white pease and white carnations. At the conclusion of the repast there was dancing for those who wished. Arend's Orchestra furnished the music. Mr. and Mrs. Floersheim will tour Southern California before settling down in their Los Angeles home.

THOUSANDS PLEDGED.

Calvary Baptist Church Receives More Than Asked for on Building Fund.

Calvary Baptists sang the Doxology with a spirit yesterday as they closed their services, for they had just succeeded in providing the means for the erection of their needed new auditorium. They prevailed at the house of $7,000, and before the meeting closed more than that amount had been provided for.

The pastor, Rev. W. H. Walker, conducted a service of scripture reading on personal giving, made a short address, and then detailed the church's plans. Messrs. Charles Barker, Buttrick and Brooks assisted in the work of taking pledges, and one by one the squares on a large blackboard were erased or canceled, until, when the whole amount was raised there was formed on the blackboard a design of the cross and crown. The auditorium is to be of the old English style of architecture, from plans by Russell & Marsh. It will seat 900 people.

ROUSING SWEDISH PICNIC. A jolly Swedish picnic took place at Mineral Park near the South Pasadena ostrich farm Saturday night. The 100 or more merry-makers went out in three big hayracks with a smaller wagon of good things to eat. The order of the night was dancing, which continued until 5 o'clock in the morning.

Drink Water Freely at Meals

Not iced water—pure water at natural temperature. Some say there is no room for food when there is such an amount of water in the stomach, the strength of the gastric juice is lessened, etc. Fool talk! The gastric juice is always strong and needs dilution. Water does not remain in the stomach—drinking it freely quickens the appetite—strengthens digestion—washes away the substances for which the system has no further use.

of the steam railroads, so much so that many of these have taken off their short-line services, but the strangest part about this trolley system is that it actually creates travel, the "visible" business of a district is no indication whatever of what a trolley line may be doing forth. For instance, the road between Detroit and Ann Arbor, Mich., may be given as an illustration. The latter town has 15,000 population and

The electric road was built the purely local business of the Michigan Central between two lowland four-mile population centers. The road is used by only 100 passengers a day. No sooner was the trolley installed than the daily ridership fell to 50. It is estimated that over two thousand, while in summer time it is an unusual thing for 5000 local passengers to be carried. The Michigan Central trolley is a dead end, the radius of possible suburban residential territory, and has no doubt been a failure from the start.

The Michigan Central has lately run a train from New York to Chicago that made a high average speed of 40 miles an hour and a quarter in running time.

In connection with the movement to discourage the use of harmful patent medicines the official chemists of some of the States affirm that many of the ingredients of these medicines are either corrosive sublimate or mercuric iodine, or mercuric chloride of mercury. The State chemists of Michigan have analyzed a medicine much exploited to cure the drink which contains 41 per cent. of alcohol, and another 39 per cent., a certain amount of mercuric iodine, mercuric alcohol and no sulphur at all. The Bureau of Chemistry at Washington has found that starch paste is the principal

The postoffice receipts for the nation ending July 1 next will approximate $124,000,000. In 1898 the receipts were $125,000,000. There are 25,000 rural postoffices in the country, and the average service nearly 15,000 people in the rural districts.

According to our last census there are 1,000,000 men in the United States, 638,000 high school graduates and 12,000,000 men who have gone through a common school course. "Take the average man," says the Century, "in America," as a basis of comparison we find that of the 10,000 successful men in the world, 1,000 are self-taught, 100 are self-taught and 800 are self-taught but twenty-eight times as many as the home-taught, 328 times as many as the man with the common school training, 1,000 times as many as the man trained in 1877 times, and the college trained in 700 times. So that, according to this calculation, the college trained man has the same learning as ten times as many as the man with the common school training, the high school graduate and 200 times as often as the man with a common school education.

The United States is the largest producer and also the largest consumer of cotton. During the past twenty years the country has produced over 1,000,000 bales or 60,000,000 pounds of cotton.

While the world's consumption of cotton has increased about 7,000,000 bales, the United States has increased its share of the world's consumption of cotton by 10 per cent, while the consumption in the United States has increased 72,000, or 51 per cent.

It is reported that some 75,000 railway employees, engaged chiefly in extension and building work, will be discharged this year, and the demand for their business has fallen off considerably. The net earnings of the roads have decreased since January 1 something like 10 per cent.

Our over-sea exports carried in American bottoms have declined from 96 per cent, down to 9 per cent, while our imports have increased from 10 to 40 per cent. Ship subsidies for all ports of panaceas have been suggested to remedy this condition of affairs in our shipping. It costs more to build a ship here than does to build one in England, and it is more expensive to man a ship with American

The Senate directs an earnest appeal to all right minded citizens to co-operate for the restoration of calm and order in the country.

FIRE AT SISSON.
REDDING, June 24.—A fire broke out at Sisson today, which developed into serious proportions. Notwithstanding his vigorous exertions made to confine the fire within bounds of the building in which it originated, the fire spread so fast that it was extinguished, almost the entire business portion of the town was destroyed.

Fell from a Dam.
FRESNO, June 24.—Sydney Fallgren, is sixteen-year-old son of P. A. Fallgren, a Kingsburg merchant, fell from the Fresno Dam, Tuesday afternoon, and was drowned.

Young Falen was fishing with four other boys. One of the boys leaned over the bank and just barely touched the fingers of the unfortunate who was in the current swept him on. His body was not seen found.

Childish Curiosity.

Little Florence, aged 6, had been spending the afternoon with a neighbor who was the wife of a neighbor and who was working in a vegetable garden mourning down the year.

Florence had been very good and obedient when she was a child. She had home her inquisitiveness ascribed to herself. Her mother explained as she was a good girl, and for a few moments Florence was going to silence. Then:

"Are all her gowns going to be black,

"Ten, dear."
"And is she going to wear black light gowns?"
"No, dear."
"Well, doesn't she feel just as bad in the night as she does in the day?"—

SERMON PREACHED TO SANTA ANA HIGH SCHOOL CLASS.

Republicans Will Hold Rally During Congressional Convention in August—Order Disbanding Company L. N.C.C. Had Long Been Expected—Huntington Beach Line.

SANTA ANA, June 20.—This evening at the Grand Opera house were held the closing exercises of the graduating class of the High School. All the churches united in the meeting and the building was crowded with friends of the class, which occupied a section of reserved seats on the main floor of the auditorium.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached by Rev. J. Herndon Garrett of the First Baptist Church on the subject, "The Problem of a Successful Life." Mr. Garrett said in part:

"Success in its etymological significance means 'that which follows,' and in this meaning is a truth of strategic interest. For success is an achievement following a condition. The condition is true character, which must precede any noble or effective doing. Being must always be before doing. True success must be dissociated from greatness. You may be successful in the true import of the word without being great. Success is essentially the achievement of a worthy end, the carrying out of a lofty purpose, the bringing to pass of things worth while or the attainment of a great ideal."

TO NAME A CONGRESSMAN.

Following the decision of the Eighth District Congressional Executive Committee at its session in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon that the coming Congressional convention of August 15 would be held at Santa Ana, plans will be at once formulated for holding a rousing rally upon the nomination of the Congressional candidate. This will be the first gun of the campaign for Orange county and will be in charge of the Republican County Central Committee and the Columbia Marching Club. A street parade with the McKinley Band and Columbia Marching Club will be held, followed with a meeting at the opera house, where speeches will be given and a drill squad from the club will go through evolutions. Later an informal reception in honor of the successful Congressional candidate will be given by the Columbia Club at its rooms on East Fourth street. This rally will also serve as the ratification meeting for the nomination of Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

TO BE MUSTERED OUT.

The receipt of news in this city yesterday to the effect that an order disbanding Co. L. had been issued by the Adjutant-General occasioned some surprise, though it was not wholly unexpected. General regret is expressed at this turn in Co. L. affairs. Members of Co. L. also regret that its troubles have culminated in an order for its mustering out, but feel that they were forced into the position taken by them, as regards the election of a captain, by the examining board. It will be remembered that the cause of the trouble was the refusal of the examining board to issue a commission for captain to First Lieutenant Bishop. Charges of misconduct against Bishop were assigned as the reason for withholding the commission. At a second election for captain, the company refused to elect anyone but Bishop, and it is for this reason the mustering-out order was issued.

SANTA ANA BREVITIES.

The formal opening of the election road from Long Beach to Huntington Beach will be celebrated at Huntington Beach July 2 with special exercises and jubilation exercises. Another big celebration is planned for July 4, when there will be the usual patriotic demonstration with speeches and fireworks. Two brass bands will be in attendance and there will be dancing at the pavilion.

Mrs. E. B. Trago entertained Friday evening in honor of her mother, Mrs. F. P. Nickey, who departs soon for Nevada for an eastern trip. "Conundrum contests and social conversation occupied the time."

The Farmers' Club held its monthly session last night at the home of C. E. Byell on South Main street and listened to articles by L. B. Fine and Miss Young. Musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Barton and refreshments of punch and wafers served. The next meeting of the club will be held at the same place and will be devoted to entomological subjects, the life histories of several of the common orchard pests to be presented and illustrated with specimens.

MOTHER COLONY BRIEFS.

ANAHEIM, June 20.—The Rt. Rev. Conaty, Bishop of Los Angeles and Monterey, administered the rite of confirmation at St. Boniface Catholic Church today. Services began at 10 a. m., with solemn high mass during which the bishop preached, and after the mass he administered confirmation.

Edith Casey, aged 10 years, of Anaheim, died in a Los Angeles hospital last week, following an operation for an abscess in the head. The child suffered first from an attack of measles.

Hering Bros. recent arrivals from Idaho, have purchased the Yarger place of seven acres at the corner of East and North streets. They will improve the property and reside here.

A Fuhberg has purchased from Mrs. C. Rehboldt the residence on North Los Angeles street for $1600.

The Pacific Electric Company has imported 300 chools to Anaheim landings to rush work on its Long Beach-Newport line along the ocean front. This makes over 600 men at work on the line, of which the second track is now being constructed.

The cannery will open some time this week on sprouts. There is an average crop in this portion of the county.

Commencement exercises of the High School will be held at the Opera house Friday night. The graduates are: Fred Rimpau, Jr., Charles Schindler, Jr., Fritz Echelein, Fay McKinley, Lizette McAuley, Blanche Webb, Roy Clabaugh, Harriette Twombly, Marie Thompson, Annie Newton, Alice Hatfield, Martin Hamrick, Alfred Renner, Eugene Bayha.

BICYCLE AND AUTO RACES.

FULLERTON, June 20.—Albert Stilton, in charge of the bicycle races for July 4 has secured a number of valuable prizes. There will be two races, a quarter-mile dash and a three and a half mile course run around the square mile west and south of town.

There will be one auto race for machines weighing 4, 6 or 8 pounds or less, and also one for 10 or 12 pound machines. The races will be held on the track at Fullerton, which will be in a few days for Sacramento to accept a good position taken by them, as regards the election of a captain, by the examining board.

It will be remembered that the cause of the trouble was the refusal of the examining board to issue a commission for captain to First Lieutenant Bishop. Charges of misconduct against Bishop were assigned as the reason for withholding the commission. At a second election for captain, the company refused to elect anyone but Bishop, and it is for this reason the mustering-out order was issued.

SANTA ANA BREVITIES.

The formal opening of the election road from Long Beach to Huntington Beach will be celebrated at Huntington Beach July 2 with special exercises and jubilation exercises. Another big celebration is planned for July 4, when there will be the usual patriotic demonstration with speeches and fireworks. Two brass bands will be in attendance and there will be dancing at the pavilion.

Dr. Tyndall on Spiritualism.
Dr. J. Melvin-Tyndall spoke yesterday afternoon in Blanchard's Hall on "Spiritual Communication." Dr. Tyndall said: "I conclude that individual immortality as life itself, and as inconceivable as life itself, and that the sub-conscious mind (which I regard as the soul-mind of a person) does convey intelligence to other sub-conscious minds, in and out of the body, without the conscious mind being aware of it. I further contend that this intercommunication between sub-conscious minds continues after one of them has abandoned the objective life." Dr. Tyndall will not lecture next Sunday, but his subject for the Sunday following will be announced later.

Merris is a laborer who has been working at the beach and he came to Los Angeles Saturday afternoon with wages in his pocket and an insatiable thirst in his throat. After buying a new suit of clothes and spending what he had left for drinks he boarded the home-bound car. Just as the car rounded the curve from Aliso street onto the bridge his hat fell off. He was after it in a second and notwithstanding the warning of the conductor jumped from the car. It was a fall of about twenty feet and his left hip landed on the rail of the old San Gabriel Valley Rapid Transit Railroad, but no bones were broken.

Fire Engine.
He was taken to the County Hospital, where it was found that several of his joints were sprained. This is the second man who has left the car while crossing the bridge. The first one was killed a few months ago and his body was not found until the following morning.

Mexican Who Was Stabbed at Arcadia in Dangerous Condition—Two Men Arrested.

Manuel Abila and Porfirio Alvarado were brought in from Arcadia Saturday night and lodged in the County Jail to await the outcome of the injuries of Cleofes Castorena, a compatriot who was severely stabbed on St. John's day.

Castorena is lying in a hut at Arcadia and may die from his wounds. Saturday the man was reported in a serious condition, and Abila and Alvarado were arrested charged with the stabbing. The three men in company celebrated St. John's day in royal style, and pledged each other's health in Dago red until everybody was drunk. Then a dispute arose, followed by a general fight, in which Castorena was slashed in the groin, stabbed in the side, and beaten over the head until insensible. The chances for his recovery are said to be small.

Now and then a Democratic paper that can hold in no longer proclaims the fact boldly that to yield to Mr. Bryan's demands at the St. Louis convention will be to invite certain defeat. THE PLAYHOUSES.
The Oliver Morosco Company will open its permanent engagement at the Burbank Theater this evening, beginning with Bronson Howard's well-known play, "Arcturion."

The Morosco company was the chief asset of the Neill-Morosco enterprises, and since the dissolution of the partnership, it is now the sole property of Morosco, the local manager.

At its last appearance here it showed unusual strength as stock market action—in fact, was the best of its kind which has been upon the Burbank boards. It won excellent notices from the critics of San Francisco, and its proprietor promises the best stock season ever given in Los Angeles. It is to be hoped that his prediction will be made good.

Included in the roster of players are: Amelia, George Woodard, Frank MacVicar, Thomas Oberle, Harry Metastayer, Phoebe McAllister, Elsie Edmund and others known to local theater-goers.

Said the man, "Is this all you've got to eat here?" Retorted the waiter, "I haven't got to eat it. I work here."

Nor do ready-made clothes have to wear their own clothing. We made two pairs of Brauer-Krohn Trouble-less summer trousers last week for two different clothing dealers. One of them was going to Atlantic City. Wanted to look like the "real thing."

Brauer-Krohn extra summer trousers, made with roll bottoms, from feather-weight fabric—thin, delicate, breezy, worsteds, light chevrons and cool crases—$5 to $12. And you can have them to wear to the beach on that day of all days—the Fourth of July.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

"Parafal" Lecture.
Mrs. Mary Fairweather gave her "Parafal" lecture last night at Simpson Auditorium, before an interested audience of fair size.

Mrs. Fairweather's talk deals with the well-known story of Parafal and the Holy Grail, and pictures the adventures of the knight in the quest for immaculate purity and the sacred cup of the Lord's Supper.

The Wagnerian dramas are made doubly complex by the interweaving of a plot, which seems to run through them, and the relation they bear to one another. Thus, "Parafal" is the last work of the great master, and "Lohengrin" is his first perfected music-drama.

"Flegende Hollander" and "Tannhauser" being considered as belonging to the operatic school. Yet, Parafal is the father of Lohengrin. Parafal, Knight of the Holy Cup, is made up through a series of great temptations, failure of virtue, and constant aspirations after the better.

The situations afford scope for matchless music and great dramatic moments, and of these the master composer has taken advantage.

Mrs. Fairweather's lecture is picturesque, forceful and completely in her own narrative style. She is not such a mistress of interpretation as the well-known incomparable Mrs. Rhodes, but she unfolds legend as it falls from her lips in graphic and instructive.

She has the merit of saying much in little, and does not give free rights to her own skivvynk metaphor—a common fault of the lyceum artist.

She is assisted at the piano by Mrs. Kelley Campbell, an instrumentalist of fine technique and appreciative powers. Mrs. Campbell rendered the prelude to the march of the knights, the air of the flower maidens, the bells and the motifs of the Grail, the Eucharist, Kundry, Parafal and others.

Mrs. Fairweather will repeat her lecture at the opening of the Long Beach Musical Festival, on Wednesday evening, June 22. Last night's concert was the last of the series given under the auspices of the Independent Church of Christ.
